If you're a potential user of the EncounterPRO-OS EMR we hope you'll download, install, and kick some tires. Checkout the test drive and the user documentation wiki.

Share your experiences in these forums. The individual forum titles should be self-explanatory, except perhaps for Bug Reporting (see first post there for details).

A FOSS (free open source software) community is about exactly that: community. These forums are a place for folks interested in using and improving EncounterPRO-OS to hang out and do so. If you are new to this site, click the "Create an Account" button at the top of the left nav bar, so you can post an introduction to yourself (in "Everything Else").

If you are a developer and want to get involved, you may wish to head on over to the EncounterPRO-OS developer workspace on Assembla. But do please introduce yourself here and stop by once in a while.
